Todhunter Ousted as Penal Head on Smith's Charges

Superintendent Assents He Merely Cashed Warrants for Sheriffs

APPEAR AS BONDS

Denies He Knew One Sheriff Advertised Warrants as "Lost"

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Acting Superintendent Cogbill appointed Ben Maddox, former warden at Tucker Prison Farm, as deputy warden, it was announced Tuesday.

R. I. Martin, deputy under Cogbill, was left in charge of Cummins Prison Farm.

Todhunter Ousted

LITTLE ROCK.—S. L. Todhunter, superintendent of the state penitentiary, was suspended last Monday by the State Penal Board pending an investigation of alleged irregularities in handling financial affairs of the penitentiary while he was superintendent several years ago.

The action was taken after Chairman Walter Helms of Texasian had pulled other members of the board by telephone, following the filing at the governor's office of a partial report of an investigation and audit of penitentiary affairs by State Comptroller Griffin Smith.

W. C. Cogbill, warden at the Cummins farm for negroes, was placed in charge of the penitentiary.

Chairman Helms said the board will meet next week, after Governor F. J. Hall returns to his office, to consider the comptroller's report of irregularities.

L. J. Aeklin, head warden at Tucker farm, submitted his resignation to the board.

Farm Implement Outlook Brightens

Increased Business to Follow Rising Prices and U. S. Aid

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Higher farm prices supplemented by cash benefits to farmers, brightened the business picture, the huge farm implement industry leaders said Tuesday.

Although farm purchasing power is dragging behind the price upturn, industrial heads agreed that increased business is in prospect.

It depends, however, they said, on the business success in the new crop year based on current adverse weather conditions.

A good dealer demand for farm implements is reported.

No Licensing Powers

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Despite word that Secretary Wallace and Farm Administrator Chester C. Davis insist that they must have "clarifying" licensing amendments, now locked at the Justice agricultural committee, a certain congressional farm leader said bluntly Tuesday they have "a fat chance" of getting them.

The leader predicted that any licensing powers given the AAA would be limited to non-basic crops.

Federal Department Resents State's Seizure of Local Control

A SPECIAL SESSION

Foot-Weary Legislators Back at Baton Rouge for Fifth Time

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes of the Department of the Interior made a scathing attack on Senator Huey P. Long Tuesday and threatened to cancel all public work projects in Louisiana if legislation is passed giving the state authority over local projects at Baton Rouge.

Long said the secretary "could go slap down to hell."

Long threatened impeachment to three justices of the State Supreme Court and intimated such action might be taken at this special session of the legislature.

Tightens Election Grip

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—The Louisiana legislature convened at 10 Monday night to pass more than a score of bills including measures to give Senator Huey P. Long control over PWA fund expenditures and tighten his grip on the state's election machinery.

Meeting in its fifth special session in nine months, and surrounded by militia which was used several hours before the assembly to disperse a group of anti-Long police jurors gathered in the East Baton Rouge parish courthouse, the legislature received 23 bills to broaden Long's power and strike at his enemies.

Nine elected anti-Long jurors, gathered in a room in the East Baton Rouge parish courthouse for what one of them said was an "informal discussion," reported they were ejected by the National Guard which has been entering martial law in the parish and has been in physical control of the courthouse for nearly three months.

Long has a majority on the parish jury in the 13 members he had appointed. Four others are regarded as friendly to his administration, while the nine involved in Monday night's asserted ejection are under prohibition by the state supreme court from interfering with the other jurors.

The bills, laid on the clerk's desk in the house as the special session opened, included measures to achieve the following:

1.—Require consent of a board to be composed of the governor and attorney general to readjustment of debts of parishes and municipalities in the federal bankruptcy courts.

2.—Abolishing the office of Fred S. Leblanc, assistant district attorney of East Baton Rouge parish, named by Long recently as one of several officials who the senator said tried to kill him.

3.—Provide for state approval of expenditure of federal work funds.

4.—Amending the primary election laws to abolish the drawing of commissioners by candidates and placing appointment of the commissioner under control of the governor.

5.—Extending advertising of 1934 delinquent tax property to August 17.

Representative Joe Hamilton of Cadde, introduced a concurrent resolution proclaiming a moratorium in 1934 tax collections until October 1.

By the handbill route Long charged that the federal government would drop $750,000,000 of relief funds from the $3,800,000,000 work relief bill of the Roosevelt administration into Louisiana to fight his machine and the handbill admonished the voters to "take the money—vote as you please."

"We are going to tighten the election laws to guard that secrecy of the ballot," Long said in the handbill. "Under Section 3 of the governor's call, the primary and general election laws would be amended and re-enacted."

Eckles told the subcommittee that he not only had sold his bank stocks but had lost $200,000 in doing so.

Glass brought out that Eckles had sold his holdings to the Eckles Investment company, created to handle the Eckles estate, of which he said he was "nominally an officer."

"The Eckles Investment company," he said, "owned less than 15 per cent of the First Security Corporation which controls 28 banks and branches, several of which have sold preferred stocks to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation."

Glass read from the Federal Reserve act prescribing qualifications for membership on the Reserve Board which prohibit any member from holding bank stock or serving as officer or director of a bank.

Former Hope Man Invents Police Aid

Perfects Rifle Mount for Motorcycle Use Against Gangsters

A novel motorcycle armament—a device that will enable a motorcycle officer to get the "draw" on fugitives fleeing in an automobile—has been developed by J. T. Tullis, Dallas inventor, and former Hope barber.

A double-column pistoleering demonstration, the automatic apparatus, approved in a recent issue of a Dallas newspaper.

Tullis said tests made by officers have shown the device to be practical. The rifle is mounted and held in a scabbard which opens when a trigger is pressed and the rifle jumps into firing position.

For use off the motorcycle the rifle can be taken from the holder in less than a second. Mr. Tullis moved to Dallas from Hope several years ago.

Clipper to Start for China Tuesday

First Leg of Flight Is to Hawaii, 2,400 Miles Westward

ALAMEDA, Calif.—(AP)—A new era in trans-oceanic transportation begins late Tuesday when the Pan American Clipper takes off from this base on her 2,400-mile flight to Honolulu, on the first leg of a commercial air service route to the Far East.

Weather conditions were reported favorable.

The 19-ton flying boat went aloft Monday on the final test flight of a series which engineers said had thoroughly proved accuracy of a new radio compass.

In command of the four-motored amphibian will be Edwin C. Musick, veteran aviator, who has spent 12 years in aviation; R. O. D. Sullivan, veteran pilot and second in command; Victor A. Wright, engineering officer; Fred J. Noonan, navigation officer; Harry R. Canaday, junior flight officer; and W. Turner Jarboe Jr., radio officer.

The clipper's regular crew is composed of Musick, who has spent 12 years in aviation; R. O. D. Sullivan, veteran pilot and second in command; Victor A. Wright, engineering officer; Fred J. Noonan, navigation officer; Harry R. Canaday, junior flight officer; and W. Turner Jarboe Jr., radio officer.

The pair gave their names as Roy Jewell, 26, of Greenville, S. C., and Raphael Woodruff, 18, of Topeka, Kan.

2 Held Here for Theft of an Auto

Federal Agents Will Take Over Local Prisoners Wednesday

Federal authorities will arrive here Wednesday to take charge of two men held in the city jail since Monday for alleged theft of an automobile.

Ownership of the car, Chief of Police Clarence Baker said, was traced to the Seismograph Service corporation of Tulsa, Okla.

Chief Baker said that he had not been able to connect the pair with the holdup Sunday night of Henry W. Stanley of Dallas, president of the Broadway of America Highway association.

Although telegrams have been sent to Stanley at Dallas, no replies from him had been received at noon Tuesday. Stanley was rubbed by two men, who stopped his car between Hot Springs and Arkadelphia.

They relieved him of $17 and a wristwatch, also took his automobile—but later returned it for the original automobile in which they were riding.

Officers here were notified to be on the lookout for the handi pair. They were spotted by Officers Burke and Ship and run down on the Lewisville highway.

The car, a 1934 model Ford sedan, bore a Kansas license.

The pair gave their names as Roy Jewell, 26, of Greenville, S. C., and Raphael Woodruff, 18, of Topeka, Kan.

Strays Will Be Picked Up; Owner Put Under Arrest

Sheriff Bearden, Prosecutor Stewart Announce Enforcement Order

WARNING IS GIVEN

Deputy Sheriffs Will Round Up Livestock—Prosecutor Will File

Following many accidents and the injury of several persons the public highways of Hempstead county were ordered cleared of livestock Tuesday by Sheriff Jim E. Bearden and Prosecuting Attorney Ned Stewart.

The Hempstead county stock law will be enforced, their announcement said.

Loose stock will be taken up and the owners arrested.

Warning to Stockmen
A joint statement signed by the sheriff and prosecuting attorney declared:

"All people who are permitting their cattle and livestock to run on the public highways are warned to immediately take them up—otherwise they will be prosecuted."

"The prosecuting attorney and sheriff have held a conference regarding means of enforcing the Hempstead county stock law."

"It is against the law to allow stock to run on the highways."

"Many people have been injured on account of this law violation."

"It is dangerous to the public safety."

"The sheriff has instructed his deputies to take up all stock found loose on the highways and arrest the owners."

"The prosecuting attorney will file against them."

"This is final notice and warning to stock owners of Hempstead county."

Signed, Jim E. Bearden, sheriff, Ned Stewart, prosecuting attorney."

Gazing on No. 67
The principal law violation is believed to be the grazing of stock on No. 67 between Hope and Fulton.

This paved highway is protected by a stock law in both Nevada and Hempstead counties. The road is clear in Nevada—but many head of cattle are grazed between Hope and Red river.

Cattle also appear on the highway east of Prescott when No. 67 crosses Little Missouri river into Clark county, which has no stock law.

Proposes to Form Relief Men Union

Organization of Work Relief Personnel May Be Attempted

NEW YORK.—(AP)—David Lasser, a leader of persons on work and home relief, said Monday that an agreement had been reached with William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, for the organization of persons employed on the government's $4,800,000,000 work relief program.

He said that groundwork for the program of co-operation among those employed in private industry and those on relief had been laid at a series of conferences. The proposal will be laid before the A. F. of L. and relief organizations shortly.

Lasser is national chairman of the Workers' Alliance of America and active head of the Workers' Unemployment Union.

Markets

New Orleans
NEW ORLEANS.—(AP)—At the first call Tuesday cotton futures were from five to 11 points lower.

Liverpool cables came in worse than due and served to unsettle the local market, but there was nothing else in the news to influence price movements.

Old crop months showed the smallest decline with May off five points at 11.54 and July off 9 at 11.57. October was 50 cents a bale lower at 11.28 and similar declines were shown by December at 11.33 and January at 11.36.

During the early trading period held within a few points of opening levels and dealings dwindled.

New York
NEW YORK.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened easy, 13 to 18 points decline owing to relatively lower Liverpool cables, foreign selling, and liquidation. May 11.56; July 11.58; October 11.28; December 11.33; January 11.36; March 11.45.

The decline extended to 11.58 for July and 11.32 for December, making net losses of about 15 to 18 points. Offerings were taken by the trade, however, and the market rallied there or four points from the lowest before the end of the first half hour. Trading was fairly active.

Child Specialist Most Interested in Quintuplets

This is the last of three articles in which Dr. Fishbein tells in what way the Dionne Quintuplets are of interest to scientists.

Primary interest in the Dionne quintuplets is held by doctors and welfare workers. Certainly, specialists in feeding and rearing of infants are going to learn a great deal from these babies.

Already they have learned much concerning the factors necessary to rear premature children to successful life. It is well known that the mortality among premature babies is excessive in spite of the best possible care.

Mortality among twins and triplets in premature births is enormous. Survival of these babies is characterized as phenomenal. A premature baby is not developed sufficiently in its nervous system to provide for the automatic regulation of its breathing or of its body temperature. Its feeding and digestive powers are very feeble. Furthermore, the premature baby is likely to succumb to any one of a number of infections to which it is easily exposed. Successful rearing of the quintuplets depended on the provision of the right kind of air, the maintenance of proper body temperature, the feeling of a sufficient quantity of properly collected and preserved human milk, and extraordinary vigilance in preventing development of infections.

What has been accomplished for these babies may well be a lesson to parents throughout the world as to the type of care necessary to be given every infant so that he may have the best possible opportunity for health and successful growth.

While the quintuplets appear to be identical, it will, of course, require extended scientific study to determine whether any two of them are identical or whether all five are identical. If it should turn out that some are identical and the others fraternal, that is, that several came from one egg cell and the others from individual egg cells, the studies will furnish most extraordinary information.

No doubt, as these infants grow, they will be subjected to serious study not only of their physical characteristics, such as their sizes and measurements and thumb prints or other physical formations of their bodies, but also of their mental development. Will one learn faster than the others? Will one develop musical talents and the others ability to paint or to dance?

They are going to have a life that is to be lived in a glass house, with all the world studying through special lenses.

Stock Your Library at 25 Cents a Book—Here's Fine Series of Cheap Reprints of Classics

One of the chief troubles about good books is that they cost money. Not a great deal, to be sure—you can buy a good classic for the price of a seat at a musical comedy—but enough, just the same, to make a difference to people who have to watch the pennies carefully.

The National Home Library Foundation, a non-profit organization which lists in its advisory board such names as James Truslow Adams, Heywood Brown, John Dewey and Will Durant, has taken a praiseworthy step to remedy this situation by bringing out a new series of reprints of famous classics to sell at 25 cents.

To date, 13 books have been put on the market. These include: "A Tale of Two Cities" by Dickens; "Salomoe" by Flaubert; "Robinson Crusoe" by Defoe; Shakespeare's "Hamlet"; "The Conduct of Life" by Emerson; a collection of Kipling's short stories; "The New Spirit" by Havelock Ellis; collected writings of Thomas Paine; "The Queen Pedagogue" by Anatole France; a collection of stories by Tolstoy;

G.O.P. Waiting for Its 'Turn at Bat'

William Allen White Compares Situation to a Baseball Game

NEW YORK.—(AP)—In its coming struggle to regain lost power, the Republican party must "assemble the conservative, constructive brains of America and work to call 'social and industrial justice.'" William Allen White, Emporia (Kan.) publisher and Midwestern Republican leader, said Sunday night.

"For two years," he said, "The Democrats have been at bat with two men on base, but no runs and two out—the NRA and the AAA. That's the net of it."

"And yet, it's not hopeless. The country still hopes for a three-bagger. But if the batter hobbles, in come the Republicans. And then, as Browning, the poet, says, 'with God be the rest.'"

Senator Long is a real danger as a candidate for the presidency at the head of a third party. There are always plenty of morons in both parties who might vote for his ideas. I think there are just as many in the Republican party as in the Democratic.

White hazarded the guess that Long as an independent presidential candidate might gather in as much as 30 per cent of the vote.

"The trouble with the New Deal is that no one knows what it means, least of all the dealers. It is trial and error which to date, not questioning the sincerity of the president and his advisers, seems to result in a lot of error and precious few hits."

Lumber Workers Threaten Strike

Walkout of 75,000 May Exceed Recent Longshoremen's Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. — (AP)—Strike clouds reminiscent of those preceding last summer's Pacific Coast maritime strike and the spectacular mass walkout of labor here loomed again Sunday in the Far West.

Fear that 75,000 loggers and lumber workers might walk out was expressed by Charles W. Hope, Seattle regional labor board director.

Concern over the coast shipping situation also centered at Seattle where representatives of 35,000 maritime workers will meet Monday to consider support for striking oil tanker seamen.

Other troubles, such as a threatened strike by 1,000 San Francisco bakers and a walkout of 350 warehousemen at Stockton, Calif., added gloom to the general picture.

The Seattle Labor Board director, who explained he had been on an "opinion sounding" tour of the vast lumber region spreading into five states, declared: "should the strike go ahead, it will be more far-reaching than the longshore strike last year."

Sales Tax Test Is Placed on Appeal

Collection of New Tax Postponed Until June 1 at Earliest

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The test case of the new Arkansas 2 per cent sales tax which resulted in its being held unconstitutional in Pulaski chancery court last Saturday was formally appealed to the state supreme court Monday.

It was set for submission six weeks from now automatically postponing tax collections for at least one month after May 1, its original effective date.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Curing Round Shoulders Forces Backs to Wall

"I'm round-shouldered," writes a woman in a small New England town. "I dread to try on Easter suits because I know how awful I'll look in them. Aren't there exercises I can do to correct this horrible condition rather quickly?"

Of course there are. And, judging from the number of readers who seem interested in this subject, I'll give some right now, although they won't work their magic in time for this year's style parade.

First of all, stand with feet back about one foot away from a wall. Lean backward and make shoulder blades touch the flat surface. Hold the position a few seconds and then force your spinal column, from the space between shoulders to the center of your back, right against the wall. You won't succeed at first, but keep on trying until you do. Repeat the exercise several times a day. Then do the same type of exercise while lying on the floor.

Lie on your back with arms at your sides and knees bent so that weight of the legs rests on the feet. Press shoulders flat against the floor and see that every inch of the backbone, except the last four vertebrae, touches. Relax for a few seconds and repeat. This should be done for ten minutes night and morning.

In addition, remember to keep your chin up and your shoulders back when you are walking down the street. And don't slump forward when you sit down. Exercises can't possibly help a great deal if you persist in undoing the good they've done whenever you sit in a chair.

Next: New eye make-up.

Ford's Theater, where Lincoln was shot, is still standing in Washington, although it is no longer used for theatrical purposes.

The DARK BLOND

By CARLETON KENDRAKE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MILICENT GRAYES, secretary to GEORGE DRUMMOND, finds her employer in his office dead. JARVIS HAPP, a stranger, offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty shop where she is transformed into a blond. She takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. She meets HARRY NORMAN, his stepson ROBERT GAYNE, MRS. HAPP, and CILLA DUCHENE, Mrs. Happ's maid.

That night a note under her door informs Millicent, "The woman in black evening, is here. Millicent, take the woman to the rooming house. She is a very nice girl. She is a very nice girl. She is a very nice girl."

Next morning SERGEANT MAHONEY takes charge of the case. He questions Millicent, later when she is in the corridor talking to Norman they hear Mrs. Happ answer the telephone downstairs. A moment later Mrs. Happ screams.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIX

MILICENT remained rooted to the stairs, staring with wide, incredulous eyes. It was Norman who raced down the stairs, picked up Mrs. Happ, holding his hands beneath her arm-pits.

"What is it, Cynthia?" he asked. Twice she started to speak, and twice words failed to come from her lips.

"What is it?" Norman demanded again, alarm in his voice. "Your father," she said. "What about him?" "They telephoned."

"Who telephoned?" "The men who had him."

"What do you mean?" he asked. Millicent suddenly came to life. She sensed something of the significance of the words, ran down three or four stairs. "You mean he's been arrested?" she asked.

Mrs. Happ shook her head and said, "He's been kidnapped."

"What?" Norman Happ exclaimed. "Kidnaped?" "How do you know?" "They said so over the telephone."

"Who said so?" "The men who had him."

"What did they say?" "They said they had him, that he was safe for the present, that there was no use trying to look for him, and that under no circumstances were we to notify the police—that if we notified the police he would be killed."

"But what did they want?" Norman Happ asked. "Was it money?" "They didn't say. They said they would communicate with me later, and that when they got in touch with me they'd give instructions as to what they wanted. They said I was to keep Mr. Happ's disappearance completely concealed from the officers in the house."

"They knew that officers were in the house?" Norman Happ asked. "Apparently."

MILICENT was frowning, doing some very rapid thinking. "He left his study," she said, "and gave Mr. Buchanan the key. Mr. Buchanan had some evidence he wanted to . . ."

Cynthia Happ suddenly galvanized into life. She leveled an accusing forefinger at Millicent. "You!" she screamed. "You're the little busy body that brought this all about! If it hadn't been for you this would never have happened! He brought you into the house and look what's happened! My husband has been kidnapped. We're all involved in scandal. There are police officers trooping about the house, asking questions and prying into things that are none of their business. And who's to blame for it—whose responsible?"

Cynthia Happ's voice rose to a crescendo of hysterical accusation and her rigid forefinger fairly quivered as she pointed at Millicent. "You are!"

Norman Happ said, "Now listen, Cynthia, calm yourself. This isn't going to do anyone any good."

The woman pushed him to one side. "You're responsible," she screamed at Millicent. "Don't stand there with that mouth-mouthing look on your face. You can't bluff me with any of that kind of stuff. You're responsible for Harry Ford's murder! It's because of you my husband's been kidnapped!"

Sergeant Mahoney's voice, from the head of the staircase, sounded as professionally cheerful as the voice of a doctor entering a sick room where the patient is lying on his death bed. "Well, well, well," he said. "So there seems to have been a kidnapping. Tell me about it, Mrs. Happ."

At once Cynthia Happ regained control of herself. She took a deep breath, stared at the head of the stairs with resentment glittering in her eyes.

Sergeant Mahoney moved from the head of the stairs, walking around the corner of the banister so that he was plainly visible.

Mrs. Happ's face wreathed itself in smiles. "It happens," she said, "that you overheard me telling this young man exactly what I thought of her. I'm afraid I wasn't mincing words."

"Indeed you weren't," Sergeant Mahoney said, coming down the stairs. "But you said something about your husband being kidnapped."

CYNTHIA HAPP laughed. "I'm afraid that I was very much worked up," she said. "I'm certainly thankful to you for the interruption. Sergeant. Regardless of the provocation I may have had, I certainly had no license to talk to a servant as though she were an equal. After all, the child is nothing but a hireling—one who does my husband's work, one who is to have her here—just as one would have a painter, a scrubwoman, or a window washer."

Millicent realized Mrs. Happ was trying to make her lose her temper, to create a scene in the hope that such a scene would distract the attention of Sergeant Mahoney from what Mrs. Happ herself said. Millicent refused to make a scene.

For a moment Sergeant Mahoney looked puzzled. Then he said, "But what about the kidnapping, Mrs. Happ?"

Mrs. Happ's smile was the smile of a perfect hostess welcoming guests. "I'm sure," she cooed in her most seductive tones, "that I know nothing whatever about any kidnapping."

"Under those circumstances," Sergeant Mahoney suggested, "suppose we have a little talk together. I want to use the telephone for a few moments, and then I would like to talk with you."

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Housewives of Detroit will meet with Mrs. D. M. Samuel April 16th, but it was a bad rainy day and impossible for most of the ladies to attend. There were four members, 3 visitors and our agent, Miss Helen Griffin present.

We decided it would be a good time for a social hour so we had several riddles, guessing contest, etc. Mr. Griffin and Mrs. W. A. Poole were the best guessers and received twin chickens as prizes.

We discussed the ladies dress contest. No demonstration was given since there were such a few present. The refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned. Miss Griffin has promised to give a sewing and jolly making demonstration together next time. We will meet with Mrs. A. L. Roberts May 8. Mrs. W. A. Poole will have charge of the devotional.

The Rocky Mount 4-H club met in their regular meeting Friday, April 13.

Three members of the corresponding committee reported by reading helpful letters from three clubs, De-Ann, Sarcana and Ogan.

The club captain had fairly good reports to make concerning the different projects but we all want to strive to help them be able to make their reports show even more progress next time.

Interesting talks and timely suggestions were made by Mr. Morrow and Mrs. Griffin before the boys and girls separated into groups.

Great interest is being expressed and plans are being made to make this year club rally the best we've ever had.

F. D. R. May Offer Bonus Compromise

Negotiable Bonds Would
Be Dated Back to November 11, 1918

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A compromise bonus bill—labeled by its author as acceptable to President Roosevelt—was drafted Monday night in an effort to head off the powerful drive for the inflationary Patman bill passed by the house.

Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee announced he probably would introduce the bill Tuesday. He sought to work out an agreement on it with leaders of the bonus drive.

Harrison's announcement followed his conference on the bonus question with President Roosevelt Sunday in which many of the proposals for dealing with the question were canvassed. While the Mississippi would not declare the nature of his bill, it was reported to be a combination of several other measures which have been offered as substitutes for the Patman bill, based primarily on the idea of advancing the maturity date of the adjusted service certificates to 1938.

It was said, also, that the administration measure would propose giving veterans negotiable bonds up to the current value of their certificates, which they could cash or retain until maturity in 1938 to obtain the full face value of their certificates.

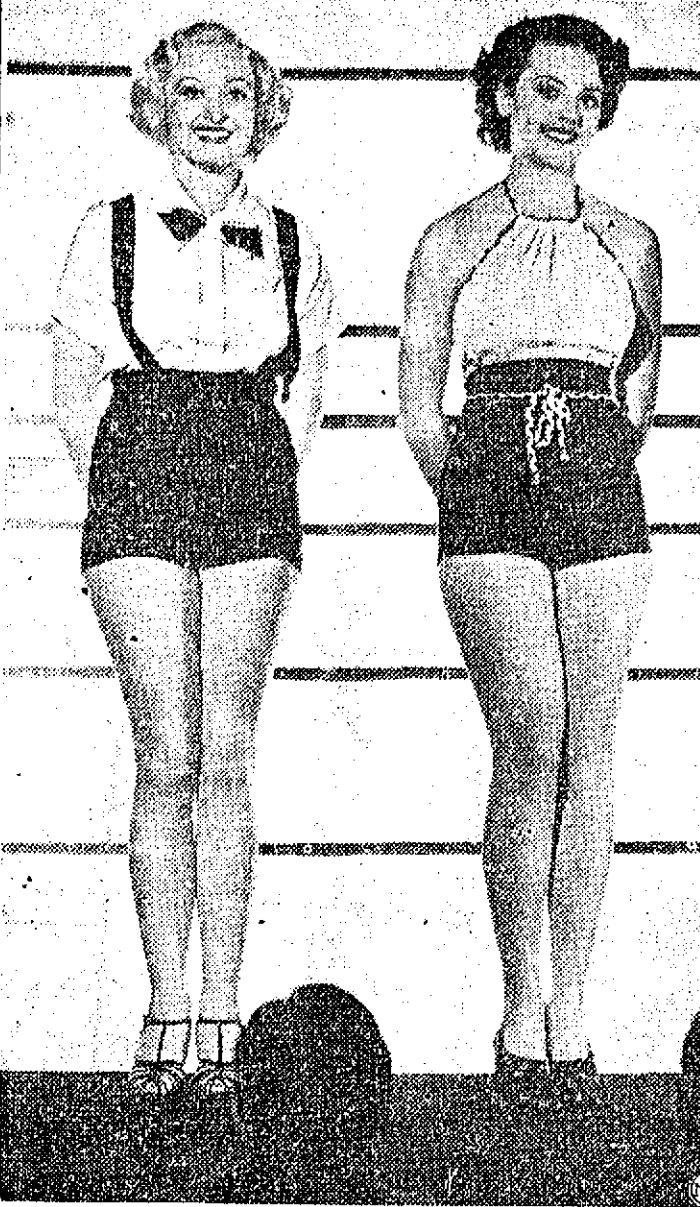

Under the advance date plan, the certificates would be dated from the armistice, November 11, 1918, instead of 1925, after the bonus law was enacted. This would advance the maturity date of the 20-year certificates from 1945 to 1938, and materially increase their current value.

It was said the bill would propose to write into law a declaration of policy that the bonus would settle the demands of the veterans and that congress would not consider a general pension plan in the future.

Fitzhugh Vacates Post in Memphis

City Judge Steps Aside
Pending Trial on Shelby County Charges

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Expressing confidence of "absolute vindication," City Judge Lewis T. Fitzhugh Monday vacated his office pending trial on indictments growing out of Mayor Watkins Overton's charge that he conspired in the operation of a "fine remittance racket."

"Conscious of the rectitude of my official conduct, and confident, therefore, of absolute vindication, I will retire temporarily from this bench," Judge Fitzhugh told the crowded courtroom when he arrived.

Judge Fitzhugh arrived after making hand on a contempt of court citation issued by Criminal Court Judge Phil Wallace on an affidavit from J. Thomas Wellford, foreman of the grand jury which indicted the judge last week. The contempt charge will be heard by Judge Wallace Monday.

Mr. Wellford took exception to a statement by Judge Fitzhugh shortly after his indictment in which he said the charges against him were "unfounded charges."

Abuse Charged by Texas Prisoners

But Prison Officials Say
Convicts Mutilated Themselves

ANGLETON, Texas.—(AP)—Convicts on crutches hobbled before legislative investigators Monday with gruesome stories of having maimed themselves to escape the alleged brutality of guards at the Retriever state prison farm near here.

The session, in which a special committee of the Texas house interviewed some half-dozen prisoners in launching a probe of the brutality charges, was closed to outsiders.

Names of the convicts were not disclosed. They remained before the committee for from 30 minutes to an hour each. Committee members refused to permit the prisoners to be questioned afterward.

Farm officials said one of the convicts questioned had injected kerosene into an injured leg to cause infection, and that others had cut themselves about the legs.

The investigation was ordered after two state prison board members had reported prisoners mutilated themselves by cutting off their legs and in other ways because they feared guards would kill them if they went into the fields to work.

Capt. I. K. Kelley, head of the farm for the last six years, said the convicts merely were looking for sympathy. He said a score had maimed themselves during the last two years—several since talk of a legislative investigation was heard.

A new air route to Key West, Fla., now brings that city within a little more than one hour's travel from Miami.

Baseball Season Opens on Tuesday

Major Leagues and Southern Association Scheduled to Begin

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Despite the threat of being given a cold shoulder by the weather man, major league baseball was to take off Tuesday on a 154-game schedule.

A warm spring sun Monday raised hopes for a balmy setting for the opening ceremonies, at least in the East, but this proved to be just another false start. The forecast is for a much colder turn of weather along the Eastern seaboard, with a parting salute from winter in the Middle West.

A snow storm forced the Detroit Tigers to cancel their final workout. Cincinnati reported snow flurries but a sleet, nevertheless, for the opening game at Crosley Field between the Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates. Chicago's forecast alone was of the welcome "fair and warmer" variety for the opening which will pit the night Dizzy Dean of the world champion Cardinals against the great Lon Warneke of the Cubs.

Skies promise to be clear but overcasts will be necessary in the East for those who expect to turn out for the big day, either to join President Roosevelt in the send-off at Washington or to witness the debut of Babe Ruth as a National Leaguer in Boston against the opposition furnished by Carl Hubbell and the New York Giants.

Latest reports indicated an aggregate turnout of at least 200,000 for the eight opening games listed for Tuesday afternoon. National League estimates were for 125,000 at the contests scheduled in Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Chicago. The American League's openings in New York, Detroit, St. Louis and Washington figured to attract less than 100,000.

Open at Little Rock
LITTLE ROCK—With a successful spring training season completed the Little Rock baseball team will open the 1935 Southern Association season against the Memphis Chickasaws at Travelers Field Tuesday.

One of the largest opening day crowds in the history of Little Rock is anticipated with a large out-of-city delegation present. Reservations have been made by fans living as far as 150 miles from Little Rock.

Probably 75 per cent of this unprecedented enthusiasm is due to the acquisition of Dr. James Thompson Prothro as manager. In his eight successive seasons at Memphis his club never finished out of the first division.

Prothro has been confronted with problems in Little Rock that he never experienced before. Despite a wavy handicap, he has whipped a shape a squad that bids fair to earn more than a few upsets.

WARNING to Live Stock Owners Hempstead County Stock Law Will Be Enforced.

All people who are permitting their cattle and livestock to run on the public highways are warned to immediately take them up—otherwise they will be prosecuted.

The prosecuting attorney and sheriff have held a conference regarding means of enforcing the Hempstead county stock law.

It is against the law to allow stock to run on the highways.

Many persons have been injured on account of this law violation.

It is dangerous to the public safety. The sheriff has instructed his deputies to take up all stock found loose on the highways and arrest the owners.

The prosecuting attorney will file against them. This is final notice and warning to stock owners of Hempstead county.

Grand Jury to Investigate
Increases in Bread,
Milk and Meat

DETROIT, Mich.—(AP)—Housewives of Detroit will desert their dishwashing and dusting Thursday to attend a grand jury investigation of the rising price of bread, milk, meat and other items in the household budget.

Housewives' complaints have resulted in a city-wide clamor over a cent a quart in milk and a two-cent jump in bread with other commodities moving skyward in proportion.

Prosecutor Duncan McCrea, in petitioning Judge Henry S. Sweeney of Recorder's Court for the grand jury session, expressed belief that the increased prices are a result of price fixing conspiracies and combination in violation of the state anti-trust laws.

Judge Sweeney recognized the housewives' interest and announced that the one man grand jury hearing will be as "open as possible." He, himself, will conduct the investigation.

The cent-a-quart increase in the price of milk will be the first topic of inquiry. Bread will be next.

Officials said the petition was broad enough to cover an investigation of the price of meat, gasoline or any other commodity distributed by dealers banded together in a trade organization.

Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee announced he probably would introduce the bill Tuesday. He sought to work out an agreement on it with leaders of the bonus drive.

Harrison's announcement followed his conference on the bonus question with President Roosevelt Sunday in which many of the proposals for dealing with the question were canvassed.

While the Mississippi would not disclose the nature of his bill, it was reported to be a combination of several other measures which have been offered as substitutes for the Patman bill, based primarily on the idea of advancing the maturity date of the adjusted service certificates to 1938.

It was said, also, that the administration measure would propose giving veterans negotiable bonds up to the current value of their certificates, which they could cash or retain until maturity in 1938 to obtain the full face value of their certificates.

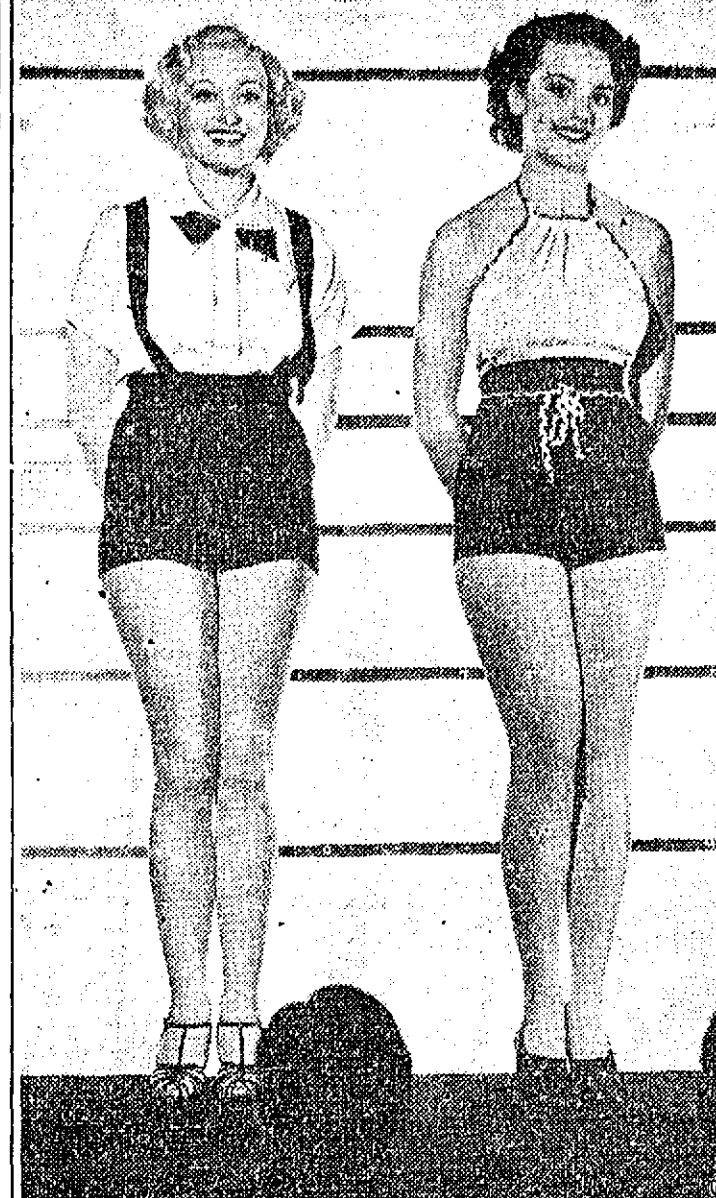

Under the advance date plan, the certificates would be dated from the armistice, November 11, 1918, instead of 1925, after the bonus law was enacted. This would advance the maturity date of the 20-year certificates from 1945 to 1938, and materially increase their current value.

It was said the bill would propose to write into law a declaration of policy that the bonus would settle the demands of the veterans and that congress would not consider a general pension plan in the future.

'Line Up,' but Not for Cops

Police have nothing to do with this unique lineup of beauties, except that they gave the idea to Dave Gould, Hollywood dance director. Ma Lee, left, and Barbara Hubbard show how it works. They stand under glaring lights, before their judges just as criminals do before detectives and possible identifiers, but in this case, the girls are there to be picked for chorus jobs.

City Judge Steps Aside
Pending Trial on Shelby County Charges

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Expressing confidence of "absolute vindication," City Judge Lewis T. Fitzhugh Monday vacated his office pending trial on indictments growing out of Mayor Watkins Overton's charge that he conspired in the operation of a "fine rumormongering racket."

"Conscious of the rectitude of my official conduct, and confident, therefore, of absolute vindication, I will retire temporarily from this bench," Judge Fitzhugh told the crowded courtroom when he arrived.

Judge Fitzhugh arrived after making head on a contempt of court citation issued by Criminal Court Judge Phil Wallace on an affidavit from J. Thomas Wellford, foreman of the grand jury which indicted the judge last week. The contempt charge will be heard by Judge Wallace Monday.

Mr. Wellford took exception to a statement by Judge Fitzhugh shortly after his indictment in which he said the charges against him were "malicious through."

Baseball Season
Opens on Tuesday

Major Leagues and Southern Association Scheduled to Begin

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Despite the threat of being given a cold shoulder by the weather man, major league baseball was to take off Tuesday on a 154-game schedule.

A warm spring sun Monday raised hopes for a balmy setting for the opening ceremonies, at least in the East, but this proved to be just another false start. The forecast is for a much colder turn of weather along the Eastern seaboard, with a parting salute from winter in the Middle West.

A snow storm forced the Detroit Tigers to cancel their final workout. Cincinnati reported snow flurries but a schout, nevertheless, for the opening game at Crosley Field between the Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates. Chicago's forecast alone was of the welcome "fair and warmer" variety for the opening, which will pit the mighty Dizzy Dean of the world champion Cardinals against the great Lon Warneke of the Cubs.

Skies promise to be clear but overcast will be necessary in the East for these who expect to turn out for the big day, either to join President Roosevelt in the send-off at Washington or to witness the debut of Babe Ruth as a National Leaguer in Boston against the opposition furnished by Carl Hubbell and the New York Giants.

Latest reports indicated an aggregate turnout of at least 200,000 for the eight opening games listed for Tuesday afternoon. National League estimates were for 125,000 at the contests scheduled in Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Chicago. The American League's openers in New York, Detroit, St. Louis and Washington figured to attract less than 100,000.

Open at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK.—With a successful spring training season completed the Little Rock baseball team will open the 1935 Southern Association season against the Memphis Chickasaws at Travelers Field Tuesday.

One of the largest opening day crowds in the history of Little Rock is anticipated with a large out-of-city delegation present. Reservations have been made by fans living as far as 150 miles from Little Rock.

Probably 75 per cent of this unprecedented enthusiasm is due to the acquisition of Dr. James Thompson Prothro as manager. In his eight successive seasons at Memphis his club never finished out of the first division.

Prothro has been confronted with problems in Little Rock that he never experienced before. Despite heavy handicaps, he has whipped into shape a squad that bids fair to cause more than a few upsets.

WARNING
to Live Stock Owners
Hempstead County Stock Law Will Be Enforced.

All people who are permitting their cattle and livestock to run on the public highways are warned to immediately take them up—otherwise they will be prosecuted.

The prosecuting attorney and sheriff have held a conference regarding means of enforcing the Hempstead county stock law.

It is against the law to allow stock to run on the highways.

Many persons have been injured on account of this law violation.

It is dangerous to the public safety.

The sheriff has instructed his deputies to take up all stock found loose on the highways and arrest the owners.

The prosecuting attorney will file against them.

This is final notice and warning to stock owners of Hempstead county.

the Purdue University airport. Striking away from the Burbank air terminal at 5:27 1/2 a. m. Pacific coast time, Post hurtled through the air at speeds which part of the time approximated 300 miles per hour. Over this college community, however, the sturdy ship which has set around-the-world marks failed him. After circling the university field four or five times, Post came down on the six-foot skid attached to the bottom of his plane's fuselage in what airport attaches termed a "sweet landing." He had dropped his landing gear just after his California takeoff to cut wind resistance to a minimum.

"Get my hat off," were Post's first words. He was wearing a visored aluminum helmet and a 16-pound rubber fabric suit in which he received oxygen.
"Will you try again?" he was asked.
"I don't know," Post answered. "I don't want to talk about it at all."
Average Speed Drops
Post averaged 231.43 miles per hour in his 1,900-mile flight to LaFayette. On his second record attempt he averaged 279.36 miles per hour from Burbank to Cleveland.
Post said that a clutch on one of his superchargers was stripped. He remained at the field for some time supervising the placing of wooden skids under the wheelless ship so that it could be towed into a hangar and said he would remain here awaiting arrival of landing gear to be fitted on the ship.

One Billion for Roads and Streets

Bureau of Public Roads Already Has Program Under Way

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Surface indications pointed Monday to a possibility that one billion dollars of the administration's work relief fund may be spent on streets and highways. The Bureau of Public Roads is said to have the jump on other spending agencies.

It already has 100 millions in grade crossing eliminations and other projects contracted for under authority granted by congress last year, officials revealed.

Island Legislature Angry at America

Puerto Rico House and Senate Walk Out—Business Unfinished

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico.—(AP)—Puerto Rico's legislature went on strike Sunday, leaders charging the federal government in Washington with a "dictatorial colonial policy." In what possibly was the first such walkout in history, the legislators quit 36 hours before the automatic end of the session, leaving much important legislation unacted.

Spokesmen for the majority coalition in the house and senate said that Oscar Chapman, assistant secretary of the interior, advised Gov. Blanton D. Winship to veto a bill creating a public corporation to support the recently organized Rural Rehabilitation Corporation because it interfered with federal plans in Puerto Rico. They forced through a resolution for sine die adjournment.
For weeks methods of carrying on island relief and rehabilitation have drawn attacks from coalition members, who accused James Bourne, federal relief administrator, with political favoritism.

Chain of Airports

Midway group, 1380 miles; Eastern to Wilkie's island in the Wake group, 1200 miles onward; Wilkie's to Guam, 1450 miles; Guam to the Philippines, 1500 miles.

From Manila, in the Philippines, the airway continues 100 miles to Canton, connecting with Pan American's 3000-mile system in China.

Establishment of at least two of the bases is really a colonization project. Completely isolated, none of the Wake group has been inhabited in the history of man. No one lives on Eastern Island, in the Midway group, although a cable station is maintained on Sand Island, across a coral lagoon.

Task is Monumental
The stupendous task of establishing this 8500-mile airline is expected to be completed in mid-July, after which the first of scheduled flights will take place.

Operating airports, homes for the men, complete machine and mechanical shops, and the most powerful of airways radio stations will rise in this limited time.

Plans for the model airports have been in the making for two years. Pre-fabricated buildings and combined findings of experts in the assembly of supplies for man and machine have gone into a detailed inventory that makes such speed possible.

When the North Haven sailed from San Francisco on her colonization mission, she carried 300 carloads—6000 tons—of supplies, ranging from spare collar buttons for the men to complete machine shops and knocked-down radio stations.

The commissary for the isolated Wilkie's and Eastern bases was of formidable proportions. More than 5000 pounds of frozen and smoked meats alone were put aboard the North Haven to get dropped at these bases.

Honolulu First Stop

First stop of the North Haven was Honolulu. There five men disembarked to superintend erection of a base and radio station by local labor. The radio station was set up in three days. The airways crew included an airport manager, a radio and weather man, his assistant, and two mechanics. Equipment for the first base had already been shipped through regular marine channels.

At Eastern Island the party's colonization project begins. Unable to anchor close to the tiny island because of coral reefs, the ship will stand outside for 15 days while the cargo is discharged and the entire construction and mechanical crew pitches in to construct the base.

When the North Haven sails, 25 construction men will remain to complete the project.

The Midway group achieves prominence only because it is midway between America and Asia, the northernmost islet of the Hawaiian group. Surrounded by an 18-mile coral reef, only one of the group is inhabited. Eleven men maintain a cable station in the American-Pacific system to the Philippines. Eastern Island is 15 1/2 miles long, 12 feet above sea level at its highest point, and is covered by coarse grass and bushes. Stills for drinking water have had to be provided.

Then heading for a tiny target in the Pacific, the North Haven sails for Wilkie's Island in the Wake group—1200 miles west and south. This entire group is approximately a mile square, rearing in splendid isolation in mid-ocean. It has never been inhabited.

Forty-five working days are scheduled for construction of the base and airways radio station on Wilkie's Island and at expiration of that time the North Haven will move on.

A permanent crew of 13, consisting of an airport manager, three radio and weather experts, a chief mechanic and his two helpers and a doctor, will man the base.

Simple Task at Guam

At Guam and the Philippines the airways construction project is comparatively simple. Similar technical crews to that at Honolulu will remain when the North Haven sails on her return voyage.

She will drop additional supplies at each base and pick up construction crews en route to California. When the first clipper flying to the Orient settles on lagoon waters at either Wilkie's or Eastern Island, passengers will see a model airbase construction.

community.
In each landing lagoon will be a landing boat and dock leading to the shore. To the right, as the passenger steps ashore, will be huge underground gasoline storage tanks; beyond them a powerhouse, and still beyond a building for the powerful radio transmitter.
The transmitting station of the radio direction finder will be off to the left.

First in a group of painted frame houses as the passenger walks up a graded walk will be the airport office—here he may receive cable messages from home—and opposite it the radio receiving station.
Guarding "Major" Job
Further on will be staff quarters, arranged in a central circle, with quarters for the crews of visiting ships. Kitchen, mess hall, and servant quarters are off to the right, outside the circle.
Between visits of the clippers on their flights between California and the Orient, the airbase crews will occupy their time with multiple duties, with time off for recreation.

It is evident that Pan American expects its staff to go in for gardening in a big way, as the list of seeds to go ashore is a large one. There will also be card games, books, and supplies for indoor pastimes as well as outside. And, of course, there will be radios to make audible the long-wave programs of American as well as Asiatic stations.

With completion of these bases, Pan American's program to conquer the Pacific is nearly realized. Several test flights remain to be undertaken and, finally, the start of regular-schedule flights to the Orient.

NEXT: The men and the planes that will attempt the conquest of the Pacific.

YOUR WIFE WILL KNOW

WHY WE BUY FROM WESTERN ELECTRIC

- As the world's best purchasing agent, she applies the same rules of thrifty buying used by the Bell System.
- A special study based on 3,000 separate items of telephone equipment and supplies indicates this fact: Western Electric, as supply unit of the Bell System, sells to Bell operating companies for a fourth less, on the average, than the lowest price offered by independent supply firms.
- This of course does not mean a saving of a fourth on every item bought from Western Electric. Some supplies, paper, paints, poles, for example... range from 5 to 17 per cent under usual market prices. Others, such as telephones, cables, and cut-in boards, show similar variations in the amount saved.
- But the important point, clearly indicated, is that Western's prices are appreciably lower to us than open market prices.
- As one of the 24 associated companies of the Bell System, we buy most of our equipment and much of our supplies from Western because we get bargains there, because we get uniform quality and the assurance of exact performance... and because Western Electric parts are so designed that future improvements and developments will fit into and work with equipment already in use.
- These factors help us materially in achieving the Bell System policy of good telephone service at fair cost to the user.
